

GARDEN STATE HARLEY-DAVIDSON GALLERY EVENT GREG HILDEBRANDT

FEBRUARY 24 2016 • MORRIS PLAINS, NEW JERSEY

STORY AND PHOTOS BY MARK MCNABB

Bobby DiFazio, owner of Garden State Harley-Davidson of Morris Plains, New Jersey opened up his grand showroom to legendary, internationally known artist Greg Hildebrandt for a full gallery event. Greg Hildebrandt known for the iconic movie poster for the very first "Star Wars" film, meet fans while finishing on site his latest pinup painting. Also on hand was his wife, publicist and business manager, Jean Scrocco, and art assistant and part-time model Angie Fernot.

Visitors were able to enter a contest to win a rare 15th anniversary poster of the "Star Wars: A New Hope" movie poster, originally released in 1977 and featuring art by the Brothers Hildebrandt. That rare lithograph was signed by both brothers Greg and Tim Hildebrandt who passed away in 2006 and is valued at $500.

Greg's list of clients range from Lucas Films, Lord of the Rings calendars, DC and Marvel Comics, Trans-Siberian Orchestra, Franklin Mint, to Wizards of the Coast. He has painted in the genres of children's book illustration, fantasy, science fiction and pin up art.

Featured at the opening was many of his works from comic art to a series of 1940's - 1950's pin up paintings, which he has titled 'American Beauties' that focus on striking models with classic vehicles from cars, planes and motorcycles. On hand were many items for sale from his works from the American Beauties series and his comic art.
